Licensed Professional Program

Licensed professionals are not exempt from substance use and mental health concerns. They face unique contributing factors to behavioral health disorders, such as high job-related stress and pressure, long work hours, and sleep deprivation. They are often confronted with life-and-death, financial, and reputational challenges. The consequences of untreated behavioral health concerns affect mental, physical, emotional, social, and spiritual aspects of a licensed professional's life.

Serving Our Nation's Professionals

Sierra Tucson offers a program designed to address the complex and distinct needs of licensed professionals. Whether individuals are seeking support independently, or in connection with a Peer Assistance Program or Professional Health and Wellness program throughout the United States, licensed professionals can find a holistic approach to treating their overall human and professional well-being. Comprehensive assessments and integrative treatment planning help to address the essential concerns affecting licensed professionals and their loved ones.

Sierra Tucson is honored to help various licensed professionals including physicians, attorneys, nurses, nurse practitioners, clinicians (LCSW, LPC, LMFT), pharmacists, dentists, physician assistants, psychologists, veterinarians, and pilots among others.
